“A STUDY OF COMMUNICATION IN THE LIGHT OF COVID -19 PANDEMIC”

The Covid-19 has shifted mortality and morbidity at a global level with continuing systemic shifts in schooling, environment, public health, communication, and other areas. Communication has played a number of overt and indirect roles in raising health consciousness. At the same time, there are thousands of people who are spreading rumours and misinformation making it critical for the governments to control. With rising post-modernity and the growth of individualism and materialism, communication is overcoming multiple gaps and challenges across the globe.

Because of the pandemic's long-term effects on communities, societies, and individual experiences, we're looking for articles/research papers from all over the world on this situation from humanities and social science perspectives.

The special issue will be informed by a variety of possible themes and sub-themes; however, we are open to a broad range of papers and articles that discuss the role of communication and the effect of COVID-19:

A few reasons to publish with us:

- ◆ All the selected papers will be published with ISBN (Book Publication) and ISSN online in the Spl. Issue of our International Journal VEDA'S JOURNAL OF ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.2349-9753
- ◆ All published papers will be indexed in Google Scholar, ISI and other reputed indexing sites.
- ◆ Published papers can be downloaded from our open access Journal website.
